Pulling weeds. Pouring concrete. Enhancing landscaping. There has been a flurry of activity in the Lourdes Grotto over the course of the past year. The Fellows of Saint Joseph's College took on the task of Grotto Beautification through a fundraising drive to raise $175,000. At the time of this printing, over $230,000 has been raised in gifts and pledges.

19 SJC Baseball Player Drafted by Chicago White Sox

Garrett Guest '05 was chosen in the 49th round by the Chicago White Sox in the 2004 Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft. In three years with the Pumas, Guest batted .320 with 15 doubles, 64 runs batted in, and 75 runs scored. In 2004, he hit .294, drove in 24 runs, and scored 30.

From the Alumni Association Board President

What's in a word?

Without referring to a dictionary, I would guess that most of us can define what it means to “give.” I would also guess that definition means something different to everyone, as it takes a variety of forms: you give presents to your children at Christmastime; reports to your boss at work; opinions to your friends on the outcome of this year’s presidential campaign. However you choose to define it, I’d like to think of giving as surrendering a part of ourselves for the benefit of others.

In this issue of Contact, you’ll read countless stories that illustrate how, through giving, SJC’s mission is carried out by alumni, students, and friends. The cover story featuring recent renovations in the Lourdes Grotto is a true testament to the Fellows of the College, who took it upon themselves to enhance its natural beauty and ensure it leaves a striking impression on visitors for years to come. However, checks weren’t the only gifts given; the donation of time and effort were crucial to this project becoming a reality. It was the giving and the pursuit of dreams that allow alumni, parents, students, and friends of today to experience what Rev. Bernard “Faustin” Ersing, C.P.P.S. envisioned when the first stone was laid in 1898.

You will also read about David ’75 and Donna Owens and former faculty member Dr. James Kenny and their eagerness to give loving and caring homes to foster children with no place to go. Dave and his wife embody the Saint Joseph’s mission and spirit as they give day-in and day-out to make their home a shelter for children coming from a broken family environment. Dr. Kenny has taken this spirit one step further by forming ACT (Adoption in Child Time), which aims to find permanent homes for all children.

The opportunities we have to give don’t always announce themselves with the blowing of a trumpet or a pamphlet in the mail. Sometimes they appear quietly and wait for us to either accept or reject their passing through our lives. Be sure to watch for them.

1979 Heartland Collegiate Conference (HCC) Champs at their 25th reunion.

Heartland Collegiate Conference Champions Hold Spring Reunion

Members of the 1979 Heartland Collegiate Conference (HCC) Champs team gathered in Rensselaer on May 15th to celebrate the 25th anniversary of claiming that title. The weekend began with a golf outing at Curtis Creek Country Club, and Alumni Office staff members were on hand to pass out gifts to each golfer, which included SJC golf balls, cups, bag tags, and carabiners. A private dinner was held on the Country Club's grounds and included guests President Ernest Mills and coaches Bill Jennings and Fred Mariani '74.

"It's heartwarming to see alumni so excited about coming back to campus and visiting with old classmates," said Alumni and Parent Relations Director Kendra Illingworth. "The College is more than happy to help any class or group plan a special reunion."

For more information about how to plan your own class event, contact Illingworth at kendrab@saintjoe.edu or 800-227-1898.

Hole-in-One Success with SJC Summer Golf Outings

SJC alumni, parents, and friends took advantage of the summer sun to participate in two golf outings this year. On July 24th, family and friends of Ed Massura '60 hosted the first annual Fast Eddy Golf Invitational in his memory at the Ridge Country Club in Chicago. Seventy-five golfers competed in open and senior divisions and 85 guests were present for dinner later that evening. Trophies were awarded to players with the lowest score. "It was a great day," said Ed Massura, Jr., Fast Eddy Chair. "It was the kind of event my father would have truly enjoyed being a part of." Plans are in the making for next year's tournament, slated for mid-summer.

On August 1st, 32 golfers were present at the Moody's Light Invitational, which took place at Wildcat Creek Golf Course in Kokomo, Indiana. Chaired by Eric Mills '92, the invitational included a $5,000 putting contest and several hole-in-one contests, featuring such prizes as a set of Wilson Fat-Shaft irons, a trip to the Masters Tournament, and a week for two at the Crowne Plaza Hotel on Grand Bahama Island.

ATTENTION BUSINESS PROFESSIONALS!

If you're an alumnus or alumna with a background in business or non-profit work, please join us in Indianapolis and Chicago to mingle with current business students. Share your career experiences. Engage the students to express their own career goals. Discover a student for whom you might become a helpful mentor.

"The job market is so uncertain right now," said Associate Professor of Marketing and Management Linda McFarland, one of several faculty members involved with the planning of the reception. "Our students can benefit from the experience of being placed in the 'real world' for a while and learning how to interact in that arena."

Student attendance for each reception is by invitation only. In order to be considered, students must maintain a B average or higher, submit their resume for review by the Business Administration faculty, and successfully pass an interview conducted by those faculty.

For students like Scott Smolek, the receptions have provided a valuable glimpse into the professional future. "At the reception, I was able to meet with people in the business world, and since they were once in the same place that I am now, it was really helpful to hear about the routes they took to get to where they are today."

Senior Jennifer TenPas (top, right) visits with students at Lewisham School in Sydney, Australia. TenPas spent 12 days in Australia this summer studying the country's education system.

Education Major Goes "Down Under" to Study Foreign Curriculum

As senior Education major Jennifer TenPas moves through her semester-long teaching assignment at Van Rensselaer Elementary School, her lesson plans are influenced not only by local classroom experiences but foreign ones. A summer trip to Australia allowed her to view the education system as the United States knows it with a new pair of eyes.

Sponsored by The International Mission on Education, 80 invitations for a 12-day tour of the New South Wales School System were distributed to students throughout the country. TenPas was among the 65 who accepted and one of only five students in Indiana selected to participate.

The group arrived in Cairns on May 16th and ventured into Sydney shortly after, calling on several different elementary schools to share how they train their teachers and approach learning in the classroom. "The school system we visited is known as the best school system in Australia," TenPas said. "The students were producing the highest test scores, and the literacy rate is 99 percent. Parents were confident that their children would receive a strong education there."

What impressed TenPas most was the classroom's flexible atmosphere. "I was surprised how much like college these elementary schools were," she explained. "They don't use standard textbooks, and the teachers rely on their students to tell them what they want to learn."

Back in the United States, she is confident the lessons she learned will play a positive role in her own classroom. "This trip has really inspired me to focus on the children. It's so easy to get caught up in structural and technical issues. I need to make sure I'm reaching every student, so they can take away the ideas they'll want to know 30 years from now and not just memorize stuff to pass a test."

At SJC, TenPas is active in the Education Club, Indiana State Teachers Association, and varsity softball team. She also holds national honor society memberships with Delta Epsilon Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta.

2004 Summer Camps Theme:

Hands-on Learning

This year, the students in SJC's summer camps didn't just learn about athletics, art, and science. They lived it.

The Athletic Department kicked off the activities in the middle of June with basketball camps for boys and girls, where participants studied free-throw shooting, passing, and ball handling. Associate Professor of Art Bonnie Zimmer followed suit by directing the Prairie Arts Council's 11th annual ARTCAMP, which increased its number of classes, locations, and instructors. Assistant Professor of Psychology Chau Wong organized the first Little Einstein Camp at the beginning of July. Children ages four through seven studied native Indiana crops, excavated fossils, and learned how to plant flowers with assistance from Landscaper LouAnn Hayes.

Little Einstein Camp drew in 25 children from the Rensselaer area and the attention of Lafayette's Channel 18 News. "Children and parents were very satisfied with the camp," Wong said. "We would definitely like for it to continue in the future."

Rev. Jeffrey Kirch, C.P.P.S. '98

Meet SJC's New Chaplain

When Rev. Jeffrey Kirch, C.P.P.S. '98 first stepped foot on SJC's campus, he was looking to be a high school History teacher. Apparently, God had a different plan, because now, seven years later, Kirch is the newest Chaplain for his college alma mater.

During his freshman year, Kirch jumped into the College's Campus Ministry program, attending retreats, scheduling liturgists for Mass, and creating a calendar of events for the year. "I had an inkling in high school that I might enjoy ministry, but coming from a public school, the only interaction I had with my parish was at Mass on Sunday," he explained. "I had such a positive experience with Campus Ministry it made me seriously think the priesthood was a viable option for my future."

As for secondary education, Kirch decided early on that he wasn't suited for it. "Because SJC gets you started so quickly, I was observing high school classrooms as early as my freshman year. I remember thinking, 'You couldn't pay me to teach these kids,'" he laughed.

By the time he graduated in 1998, Kirch had decided to enter into formation with the Missionaries of the Precious Blood. While learning more about the C.P.P.S. community, he went to graduate school at Catholic Theological Union in Chicago, the largest Catholic graduate school in the country. This June, he not only received his Master of Divinity and master's degree in Systematic Theology, he was ordained into the priesthood on SJC's campus. This fall, in addition to his duties as Chaplain, he's teaching sections of Core 1.

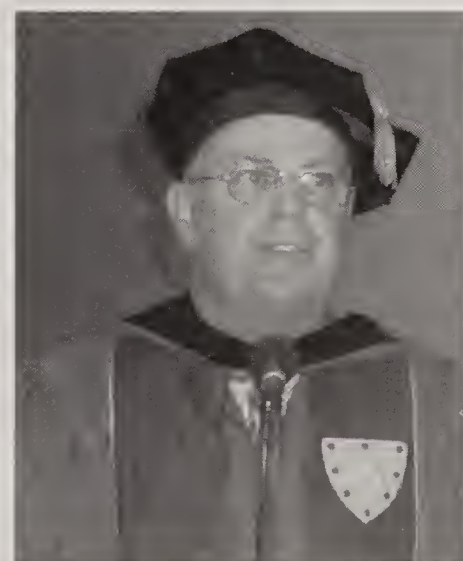

"I knew I wanted to be involved with education at the college level, and SJC was always where I wanted to be. The close interaction between students and faculty was really important to me," Kirch said. "Now I want to continue Campus Ministry's tradition of serving as a resource for our students, and ensure that my own students have a good experience that prepares them for a strong college career."

Welcome, Class of 2008!

Members of SJC's newest class didn't let a little rain dampen their spirits as they moved their belongings into campus residence halls on August 19th, kicking off the four-day Freshman Orientation weekend. Students had little time to feel homesick as they attended dances, met with seminar groups, participated in Puma Olympics, and picnicked at Lake Banet.

Dean of Freshmen Heidi Rahe described the weekend as a time to adjust to new people and a potentially intimidating environment. "The switch from high school to college, for some people, is a very big jump," she said. "It's a great feeling to meet others who are going through the same thing that you are."

The welcome continued into the first week of classes and concluded with the annual Convocation, which featured a special address to freshmen from keynote speaker Bill Hogan, Ph.D. '74, Athletic Director at the University of San Francisco and former coach, athletic director, and professor at SJC. Hogan reflected on Pumas who guided him through his college years and urged new students to make the most of their education. "The best thing you can do for the alumni who love this College is to be productive. Make the right connections; go to class; try hard so that, one day, you can give back."

"The best thing you can do for the alumni who love this College is to be productive."

SJC Professor Assists to Develop Model for 21st Century Liberal Education

John Nichols, Ph.D., S.T.L.,
National Endowment for the Humanities Distinguished Teaching Professor at SJC, played an instrumental role in the Project on Accreditation and Assessment (PAA), which recently published a national report titled "Taking Responsibility for the Quality of the Baccalaureate Degree."

Contact spoke with Nichols to learn more details.

What was the purpose of this project?

The project was designed back in 1999, when every accreditation agency in the country was rewriting its standards for accreditation. The idea was to influence the criteria in giving more weight to liberal and general education, as well as to move the assessments of student outcomes from tests of basic skills to the higher-level cognitive skills – the real "output" from liberal education.

Who were the participants?

We had a representative from each of the six regional accrediting agencies, including the North Central Association, which accredits SJC. There were likewise members from specialized accreditors in business, engineering, nursing, and teacher training. We also included a president or executive director from seven of the most important higher education associations. This was a powerful group of people.

How did SJC get involved?

I was responsible for proposing the project to the Association of American Colleges and Universities (AACU), who embraced it and found funding for it. They also named me an AACU Senior Fellow and placed me in charge of seeing the project through.

How will this project affect higher education?

It concluded that the essence of 21st century liberal education is the interaction and collaboration between the major and general education. This means that institutions not only have to have a robust general education program, but that all major programs need to relate to it, build on it, and interact with it on the upper levels. The most important assessments of student learning outcomes will take place in senior seminars or capstone projects, where students will be challenged to show integrated outcomes from both general education and the major. This represents some radical rethinking of the undergraduate degree, not at SJC but at most other institutions.

Why not at SJC?

Very simply put, the model of 21st century liberal education that the PAA created is almost identical with the undergraduate experience we offer at SJC, which we designed during the 1970's and 1980's. In fact, SJC students from the years 1979 to 1981 need to know that they are the ones who showed faculty the unique quality of an SJC degree: not just the Core Program, but the interaction between Core and the major over all eight semesters. To say SJC furnished the model of liberal education that the PAA endorsed would be going too far. However, we can claim without any hesitation that students who come to SJC will receive an undergraduate experience in tune with the most recent and highest standards formulated by national higher education leaders. Also, that the College played a leadership role in the project that formulated those standards.

Maryland Couple Honored as “Foster Family of the Year”

Once the last child has grown up and moved away from home, many parents celebrate the milestone by transforming old bedrooms into new work-out facilities. However, for Rockville, Maryland residents David '75 and Donna Owens, those bedrooms have been filled with foster children since 2002. This year, the couple's commitment was recognized by Rockville's Montgomery County and the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments, who honored them as “Foster Family of the Year.”

“When our son moved out, we found ourselves experiencing empty nest syndrome,” said David. “There was lots of space in the house, and we wanted to use it to help children who needed someplace to go.”

David and Donna began the certification process in March 2002, attending training sessions and participating in a home study conducted by the Montgomery County Child Welfare Services. That process was expedited when the County took three brothers into custody – ages four, eight, and 13 – who needed immediate care.

“Situations like that are rare,” he said, and believes it was their life experience that moved them to the top of the pile. “After two weeks, we had three children! We went back to our class the following week and said, ‘They sure move fast!’”

The boys stayed for several months before returning home in May. By the end of the summer, the two youngest were back, this time remaining for an entire school year.

There were definitely adjustments to make for everyone involved. “One day my wife and I came home from work and there were three kids we'd never met. We needed to sit down and figure out the rules,” David said. “We were a change from what they were used to. That first night, the youngest couldn't sleep, so we stayed up and sat with him.”

David and Donna rolled up their sleeves, brushed off their parenting skills, and set to work on providing a safe place for their newest family members. Then, when it was time for them to return home permanently, they worked on letting go.

“There's a lot of mixed emotions. You get to really know and care for these kids. We loved watching them progress, especially academically. But we knew the goal was to reunite them with their family, so we were happy that they got to go back.”

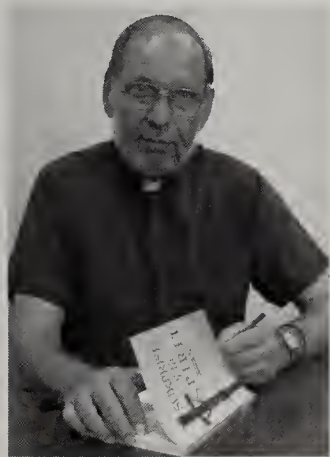

Except in the case of S., a 10-year-old boy who found the Owenses two days before Christmas last year. From the very beginning, S., whose name cannot be revealed due to child welfare policies, was in search of a permanent home. They are currently in the final stages of adoption.

“It's been a little different this time, because now we're able to think long term. We've brought him to family reunions, taken him to work, and started talking about the future. I work at a college, so there's been talk about that, too,” David laughed.

According to licensing social worker Jeanne Booth, who has worked closely with the Owens family since the beginning, couples as flexible as Donna and David are diamonds in the rough. “Many foster parents want babies, and the average age for a child in the adoption process is between six and eight. The fact that these people took on three siblings in their first month of licensing and now want to adopt a pre-teen is remarkable,” she said. “They're so compassionate. When you're in their home, you can feel the warmth and love that's there.”

Puma Spotlight:

Rev. Bernard Boff '54

Last July, Rev. Bernard Boff '54 was a retired pastor with extra time on his hands. This year, he's the co-author of one of the fastest-selling books the Diocese of Toledo has ever published. After just four months in print, Surprises of the Spirit, which chronicles lay minister Ruth Ann Leidorf's experiences with the BaTonga people of Zimbabwe, Africa, sold almost 2,500 copies and shows no signs of slowing down. A third printing for 3,000 copies has been placed.

"We've been surprised at the response," Boff said. "Once we decided to write this, everything progressed pretty quickly."

The idea to write the book stemmed from Boff's 17 years as Director of the Mission of Accompaniment (the Diocesan office that oversees mission work in Zimbabwe) and Leidorf's creative writing skills. Leidorf had recently returned from a five-year-long ministry with the mission team there and penned several articles about her time outside the United States. "After retiring, I goofed off the first month and then decided I needed a project. Ruth and I joked about writing a book together, and the more we thought about it, the more it intrigued us," he said.

For the next few months, Leidorf wrote narratives about the development of her ministry in Zimbabwe while Boff created scriptural reflections for the end of each chapter. Published in time to commemorate the Diocese's 20th anniversary of the Mission of Accompaniment, the book caught the attention of the Catholic Chronicle, whose editor approached Boff about writing a scripture-based column titled "Praying the Word." In it, passages from the Bible are applied to current events and used to work through a Christian response.

Boff holds Leidorf in high regard and believes her insights can teach Americans a lesson or two about life's bigger picture. "Once you travel to a third world country, you cannot live life in the same way; you remember that the American way is not always the best way. The BaTonga people are among the poorest in Zimbabwe, where employment is hard to come by and there's no electricity or running water, and people are happy. On the other hand, we have everything and still want more."

Grotto Beautification Project Comes to Fruition

Pulling weeds. Pouring concrete. Enhancing landscaping. There has been a flurry of activity in the Lourdes Grotto over the course of the past year. The Fellows of Saint Joseph's College took on the task of Grotto Beautification through a fundraising drive to raise $175,000. At the time of this printing, over $230,000 has been raised in gifts and pledges.

It is wonderful to see so many campus and local community members visiting the Grotto to bask in its beauty and spend time in prayer and reflection. Since 1898, many have nurtured and labored in the Grotto; however, one individual stands out among them all: Rev. Charles Rueve, C.P.P.S. '40. His was a labor of love that preserved the natural beauty of this sacred space, and his passion and spirit are the inspiration of many who toil in his living memory. Throughout the course of the current beautification efforts, volunteer laborers – over 50 in number – have included the Council of Fellows, Grotto Beautification Committee, Jasper County Community Corrections Program, SJC employees, and interested community members. The project has been greatly assisted by Bill Brown/Brown's Garden Shoppe, Mike Tiede/Tiede Concrete Construction, Al Newman, and Giorgio Gikas/Venus Bronzeworks.

The Grotto's rededication ceremony was held on June 5th with the annual Fellows Dinner and Induction Ceremony. The enthusiasm surrounding the Grotto inspired donors to sponsor an additional 10 benches (similar to those in the Grotto) – two in front of the Chapel and eight surrounding the Reflecting Pond at the main entrance.

Fellows Facts

What is a "Fellow"?

It's the highest non-academic honor bestowed by the College. In the words of Fr. Gross, "A Fellow of Saint Joseph's College sees beyond the horizon of (his) everyday occupation or profession. (He) looks to (his) identification with the College as an ... 'invitation to greatness.'" The designation of Fellow is for a lifetime and entitles one to attend the annual induction ceremony and dinner, held on the first Saturday of June, and offers numerous benefits for access to College facilities and functions.

When was the Fellows Program established?

It was established in 1962 by Rev. Raphael Gross, C.P.P.S., the 13th President of Saint Joseph's College.

How many Fellows are there?

3,863 (includes current Fellows, deceased and lost)

Do I need to make a donation?

The commitment in 1962 was $1,000 pledged over a three-year period. That amount reflected the cost of SJC's tuition at that time. In 1999 the amount was raised to $2,000 pledged over a five-year period.

What impact have the Fellows had on the College in recent years?

The Fellows had a goal to raise $200,000 to restore the Chapel's stained glass windows. Ultimately, they raised $397,798.46 – far surpassing the goal, and the windows were dedicated in June 2001. September 2001 was the unveiling of an endeavor to renovate the classrooms and laboratories in the Arts & Science Building. Over $206,000 was raised – successfully attaining the $200,000 goal. Currently, the Fellows have raised over $230,000 for beautification of the Lourdes Grotto.

Are there any tax benefits for this program?

A tax credit is available in the State of Indiana for taxpayers who make a contribution to institutions of higher education. ($100 single filers; $200 for married/joint filers). Example: if you are a married couple that is paying $400/year to become a Fellow, you will receive a $200 credit on your Indiana taxes by filing the CC-40 form.

SJC Holds Third Annual Founder's Fund Banquet

The Third Annual Founder's Fund Banquet was held on Saturday, August 14, 2004. Alumni and friends gathered to honor the members of the Missionaries of the Precious Blood, enjoy the timeless classics played by the "Melody Aces," and support a most worthy cause.

The Founder's Fund is an endowed fund, established to provide scholarships to Saint Joseph's College students in the name of the College's founders, the C.P.P.S. Income from the Founder's Fund endowment will be used to provide scholarships for students, giving them the ability to afford to enroll while at the same time giving SJC the resources to educate them.

In order to grow The Founder's Fund, SJC needs your help. When you consider ways to honor or memorialize a member of the C.P.P.S. who was influential in your life, if you wish to pay tribute to a retiring professor, or you have any event to celebrate and remember – think of The Founder's Fund as a creative "gift idea." Choose to leave a lasting legacy to The Founder's Fund through your estate plan, impacting many generations of Pumas to come.

For more information about The Founder's Fund and contributing through a planned gift, contact Maureen Egan '90, Vice President for Institutional Advancement and Marketing, at 800-227-1898 or mo@saintjoe.edu.

Giving Clubs Update

In order to recognize more donors to the College, SJC is pleased to announce the addition of two new giving clubs. The clubs began enrolling members at the start of the new fiscal year (July 1, 2004) and will be reported in the 2004-2005 Honor Roll of Donors.

Around the Fountain Club: Donors who give between $100 and $499 will be members of Around the Fountain Club. The fountain near the main entrance of SJC is as much a trademark of the campus as the twin towers. Individually, one rock doesn't make the fountain – it is only when placed among many that something larger is created. Similarly, it is the thousands of donors at this level that come together and make a difference at SJC.

1889 Society: Donors who give between $500 and $999 will be members of the 1889 Society. Named for SJC's founding year, this club seeks to recognize those whose giving is part of our "foundation."

SJC's new club listing:

Around the Fountain Club	$100
1889 Society	$500
Twin Towers Club	$1,000
Father Charles Banet Club	$5,000
President's Circle	$10,000+

WHY

do people give to Saint Joseph's College?

I am proud to be a Puma.

Faculty and staff deserve my help.

I want to help SJC raise its donor participation rate.

Donor support helped to fund my education at SJC.

If I don't give, there will be fewer scholarship dollars for students in need.

Tuition can't cover all expenses of an SJC education.

Higher education isn't something that everybody can afford – unless I help out.

Keeping technology up-to-date and cutting edge is a huge investment.

I want SJC to have the necessary resources to improve and grow.

I want to see my name listed in the Honor Roll of Donors along with other classmates who support SJC.

Sports equipment doesn't grow on trees.

Making a gift can have tax benefits for me.

I believe in the Mission.

If I don't – who will?

Need more reasons?

CONTACT: Thanks for doing the interview. I know this is a busy time as we begin a new year.

MILLS: It is busy, but a discussion on the future of SJC is important. Key College personnel, with campus community input, have been engaged in formulating a long-range strategic plan for the institution. The Strategic Plan has given Saint Joseph's College many choices to make in the next few years, and that's a good thing.

CONTACT: It is part of the Strategic Plan that Contact would like to talk about today – the part that deals with a possible Capital Campaign in the future. Would you tell readers a little about that?

MILLS: Like any other, our Strategic Plan is an institution-wide planning instrument that helps us plan for our future. All areas of our College had input into the Plan. It goes out five years and allows us to forecast resources, schedule projects, and program development. Not only do people get to suggest and critique our future, but they get a sense of where we need to go, and that helps them in their own jobs. The forecasting tools also give us warning when things are not going to work out.

CAPITAL CAMPAIGN ON THE HORIZON?

A discussion with President
Mills on future direction for SJC

The theme of our first five-year plan is "Enhancement of Infrastructure." As it states in the Plan, "The campus is over 100 years old and, though maintained with loving care, needs upgrading and renovation. Academic programs, though effective, need support and expansion. College employees, though dedicated and effective, are poorly compensated." We are blessed with many assets and we need to care for them.

As if the challenges of our campus, programs, and employees were not enough, a key reality of Saint Joseph's College right now is that we still have a business model based on significant contributive services by our founders, the Missionaries of the Precious Blood. That model worked in the last century for 1,000 students, but now that we have migrated to a business model based on employees, adjustments have to be made.

CONTACT: Would you elaborate on the differences between these business models?

MILLS: Fortunately, being a solid academic institution is a great strength of Saint Joseph's College. It is on the level of finances that we have our challenges. In his book, A Chronology, Rev. Charles Robbins, C.P.P.S. '33 has a wonderful section, set in 1917, explaining how the College can afford to operate because of the contributive services of C.P.P.S. priests, brothers, and sisters. Let's say today that service is equivalent to 75 lay people – faculty, administrators, and staff at an average salary and fringe of $45,000. That's $3,350,000 per year in labor costs at today's prices. For most of the last century, when the College had contributive services, being small and relying on tuition almost exclusively worked. Throw in a modern salaried lay work force, stay small while expanding the physical campus, and continue to rely almost exclusively on tuition, and it doesn't work well anymore. The tuition, room, board, and fees we have to charge – currently $100,000 for four years – begin to price Saint Joseph's out of its traditional market. So, the business models, without deliberate or conscious choice, have changed from a contributive services model to a salaried model. The problem: we have continued to operate as if the times haven't changed.

CONTACT: What is the plan to deal with this?

MILLS: That gets us back to the idea of a Capital Campaign. This year will be a planning year by College personnel, Trustees, and alumni leaders. I don't know the specific goal that will be set or the projects we'll focus on. Those items began to receive attention this summer by the College community and will be selected in ways that support the Strategic Plan. However, I think it is pretty clear that much of the Campaign's objectives will be to support what we do now in our academic programs, activities, and athletics. I also believe a big part of the Campaign will address endowment. If you can't achieve financial goals with tuition alone, you have to rely on endowment income to pick up the slack. Most other liberal arts colleges have gone this route. Now it's our turn.

CONTACT: You mention different objectives. Will it be possible to contribute to a specific objective?

MILLS: Yes, and I know that's been a point of confusion, and sometimes contention, in the past. If the College accepts a gift for a restricted purpose, it will only be spent on that purpose. I think what happened in the past was that at times, commitments were made to spend money based on pledges, with no actual cash in hand. Some pledges were not paid as expected, so the College did what it had to do to cover its new debts with the cash it had. Knowing a little about the finances over the last two decades, I don't know that the College had any other practical choices. It must also be said: we benefit greatly from both the Rev. Charles Banet, C.P.P.S. Core Education Center and the Residential Suites [the Apartments], which were built with money raised in past years. Setting issues of finances aside, they are magnificent assets for Saint Joseph's College; those buildings work hard for us every day.

I think we have learned the hard way some valuable lessons about Campaign financing. In any future Capital Campaign, a ground rule will be to only make commitments based on cash in hand. If a gift cannot be used for the purpose for which it was given, we will ask the donor to consider a different purpose or we will return the gift.

CONTACT: Do you think any of these issues will harm the next Campaign?

MILLS: I don't think it will or should. The number of problems was small and, at the end of the day, Saint Joseph's College has to move forward. Our alumni, parents, and friends know that, and if we make a strong enough case, I believe they will be with us. As Yogi Berra might have said, "The future of Saint Joseph's College is in the future."

Basketball Teams Schedule Four Division I Exhibitions

SJC head men's basketball coach Linc Darner has scheduled the Pumas to play three exhibition games against Division I teams prior to the start of the 2004-05 regular season.

On November 4th, SJC will travel to South Bend, Indiana, to take on the University of Notre Dame at the Joyce Center. Tipoff will be at 7:30 p.m. EST. The second game will take place at Butler University on November 13th at 7:00 p.m. EST. The men's third contest is November 14th against Purdue University at Mackey Arena in West Lafayette, Indiana, and will begin at 5:00 p.m. EST.

SJC women's head coach John Raff has also scheduled an exhibition game against a Division I opponent, with the Pumas traveling to Indiana State University to play the Sycamores on November 4th at 7:00 p.m. EST. at the Hulman Center. The women's team begins regular-season play on November 15th at home against Indiana University-Northwest at 7:00 p.m. CST, while the men's team opens play on November 20th at home against Drury University at 3:00 p.m. CST.

Come out and show your support for Puma athletics! For more information, contact Sports Information Director Clark Teuscher at extension 6141.

60 Pumas Named Academic All-GLVC, Two Named Academic All-IFA

60 Saint Joseph's College student-athletes were among nearly 600 selected to the Academic All-Great Lakes Valley Conference team for the 2003-04 academic year.

To receive such a distinction, freshmen and first-year transfers had to earn a 3.4 grade point average for two semesters. Returning athletes needed a 3.2 cumulative GPA or a 3.4 GPA for the past two semesters.

Men's golfer Ryan Messner '04, women's soccer player Annie Domasica '04, and women's track and field athletes Becca Niziolek '04 and Alexis Virtue '04 were named to the team for the fourth consecutive year.

The SJC football team had two players picked for the Academic All-Independent Football Alliance team for the 2003 season, as Justin Long '05 and Brandon Deardorff '05 were honored for the second straight year. Athletes needed a 3.2 cumulative GPA to qualify.

Guest Drafted By White Sox

Saint Joseph's College baseball standout Garrett Guest '05 was selected by the Chicago White Sox in the 2004 Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft.

Guest, a second baseman, was chosen in the 49th round by the White Sox. He was one of 54 players chosen by the Sox in the draft.

In three years with the Pumas, Guest batted .320 with 15 doubles, 64 runs batted in, and 75 runs scored. In 2004, he hit .294, drove in 24 runs, and scored 30.

SJC went 83-79-2 and made the Great Lakes Valley Conference Tournament twice in Guest's three years on the roster.

Garrett Guest '05, former SJC infielder, is a draftee of the Chicago White Sox.

Where Is He Now?

Dr. James Kenny

In 1964, when searching for teaching jobs in the Midwest, Dr. James Kenny had an important reason for applying to Saint Joseph's College. "I'm a lifelong fan of the Chicago Bears," Kenny said, "and I knew they used SJC as a training ground." He laughed. "I couldn't resist."

Upon his acceptance, he immediately began work on creating the College's Psychology Department and providing counseling services for students on a half-time basis. He left in 1975 to become Director of the Rensselaer branch of the Wabash Valley Mental Health Center, though he continued teaching classes on alcohol education until 1999. In 1982, he opened up a private practice, which he runs to this day.

However, if you ask Kenny what he's been up to these days, he won't mention his practice, or the fact that four of his books will be published this fall. Instead, he'll talk about Adoption in Child Time (ACT), the organization he founded in 1998 to promote early and permanent home placement for foster children. The group has also been effective in writing and passing legislation, reducing the average time a child will spend in foster care from four years to 15 months.

Kenny and his wife have 12 children (four of whom are adopted) and served as foster parents for over 20 years, so the issue hits close to home. "We've always had a full house. It drives me nuts to see kids left with no place to go," he said.

When he's not running ACT or seeing patients, Kenny can be found in Indianapolis, where he and his wife have an apartment and spend the last half of their week visiting with their children and grandchildren. He's also a runner, most recently participating in a marathon last year with his children in Dublin, Ireland, on the occasion of his 70th birthday.

Those interested in learning more about ACT are welcome to contact Kenny by e-mail at jimkenny12@hotmail.com. You can also log on to www.adoptioninchildtime.org.

A unique or funny story about you around the time the photo was taken:

When I was six years old, I was a flower girl in my uncle's wedding, and my mother made the dress herself. When my younger sister, Angie, saw it, she wanted one like it so much that my mother had to make another dress just for her.

High school, city, state:

Rensselaer Central High School

Management-Marketing Information Systems

What you're doing now:

After graduating from SJC in May, I was promoted from Applications Coordinator for the Office of Admissions to the Director of Research for the Office of Institutional Advancement and Marketing. In my new position, I help identify alumni and friends for the President and Vice President to visit. My husband, Scott, and I live in Rensselaer and are currently building a house on the outskirts of town. The house should be completed in November.

Political Science Professor Introduces Pre-Law Mentorship Program

Dr. Peter Watkins, Associate Professor of Political Science and Pre-Law Advisor of 14 years, is spearheading a new program at Saint Joseph's College: the pre-law mentorship project. The project incorporates a network of SJC alumni who are law school graduates willing to mentor current pre-law students. Thus far, mentors have been confirmed in Virginia, Florida, Illinois, and Indiana.

Watkins believes the new mentorship program will improve the success of pre-law students after graduation. "This program will draw on successful SJC alumni who are law school graduates and allow pre-law students to form career relationships with them," he said.

Involved students, while getting to know their mentors, will obtain information first hand about the law school application process, ups and downs of law school, and how to begin a career in law. "These things are important for them to hear because these graduates have actually done it all," he explained. "By interacting with the mentors, students can improve their chances of getting into law school and perhaps learn some career options as well."

Dr. Peter Watkins

Fred Berger, Associate Professor of Communication, took eight SJC students on a Global Village Habitat For Humanity trip to Tanzania, Africa, this past summer. In Tanzania, the group built two homes, visited orphanages, were honored at a Chisasa village celebration, and participated in a two-day safari.

Brian Capouch, Assistant Professor of Computer Science, has given presentations at the last two WISP-Wireless Internet Service Provider conferences on the topic "Voice Over IP," most recently at the 2004 conference in Bloomingdale, Illinois. He attended the spring 2004 Voice Over Network Conference in Santa Clara, California, and the O'Reilly Open Source Conference in Portland, Oregon, in July. In late September, he will present at the Astricon Conference in Atlanta, Georgia.

Rev. Lawrence Heiman, C.P.P.S. '40, Professor Emeritus of Music, is pleased to announce that the CD, Gregorian Chant 2004, is now available for purchase. Featuring a small group of singers selected from this summer's Gregorian Chant Institute, the CD contains 23 pieces of Gregorian chant from the liturgy of Lent and the Sacred Triduum (the last three days of Lent). The price per CD is $10.00. For more information, e-mail Rev. Heiman at lheiman@saintjoe.edu.

Bonnie Zimmer, Associate Professor of Art, won the Chesterton Art Gallery Award for her fiber sculpture "Georgia's Mountain," which was on display through September at the Chesterton Art Gallery in Chesterton, Indiana.

Thomas Smith '50 is retired from his law practice and splits his time between Indiana and California. His son, David, has spent the last 19 years in Tanzania as a priest, helping establish the first Catholic Medical College in East Africa.

Lawrence O'Connell '52 is now living in Palos Heights, IL, and open to visitors.

Terence MacCarthy '55 and his office were given the Public Interest Award for Excellence on behalf of the Court and Federal Bar Association. The ceremony took place on May 3rd and was presided over by the Chief Judge of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois.

Eberhard "Gabe" Gabriel '63 has moved to Dallas, TX, and continues as General Counsel of Citicorp Trust Bank, FSB, a member of Citigroup.

James Echle '66 and his wife, Michiyo, moved to Ho Chi Minh City (Saigon), Vietnam in July 2003, where he is the General Director/COO of Biomin Vietnam Company Ltd. and has opened up a new Marketing and Sales Office. He's resided in Asia for 36 years, living in six different countries, and still loves every moment. Any alumni who come to Vietnam are welcome to contact Echle at james.echle@biomin.net, so that a party can be arranged. He and his wife recently visited Singapore, where they lived for 18 years, to attend the American Ball. He's having too much fun to retire.

Tom Grzesik '69 was honored by Horace Mann Insurance Companies as 2003's Annuity Agent of the Year at the company's conference in Nice, France. Grzesik celebrated 25 years with Horace Mann in August and has been recognized on numerous occasions for outstanding sales, policy retention, and customer service.

Thomas Gonwa '71 is currently a Professor of Medicine at Mayo Medical School in Jacksonville, FL. He is also the Director of the Division of Transplant Medicine as well as Medical Director of Pancreas and Renal Transplantation at the Mayo Clinic. Gonwa has more than 175 medical publications in print.

James Reinert '71 has been appointed President of Sterling Hydraulics in Crewkrene, U.K.

Jane Cunningham '72 reports that her husband was a Navy Captain recalled to active duty for the war in Iraq in March 2003 and was sent to Naples, Italy, for one year. After his duty, he was offered a job with the Department of Defense. They are currently committed to Naples for at least three years while he works with Anti-Terrorism and Force Protection for Europe. Jane is on a four-year leave of absence from United Airlines and hopes to travel during his tour.

Reverend Gary M. Luiz, C.P.P.S. '72 was named Director of Development for the Province of the Pacific, the western province of the Missionaries of the Precious Blood, in spring 2004.

Bob Kanney '75 recently visited with fellow Class of 1975 friends Ted Karpovich '75 and Ed Jones '75 in New Jersey.

Gregory Wilkins '77 joined Haney PRC in Cincinnati, OH, as Transportation/Shipping/Receiving Manager. He is responsible for the receiving and warehousing of raw material and transportation of finished goods and has been in transportation, warehousing, and distribution since graduation in 1977. From the Vice President of Institutional Advancement and Marketing

Another great fiscal year has come to a close at Saint Joseph's College. A major highlight was the 19-month Special Initiative to Strengthen Philanthropy for Indiana's Higher Education Institutions sponsored by Lilly Endowment, Inc. that concluded on December 31st. Pumas of all kinds answered the call by contributing $3,515,638, of which $3,427,007 was matchable by Lilly Endowment – making for a grand total of $6,942,645. This was an amazing accomplishment and certainly a rare challenge that did not allow for the luxury of pledges being carried out over a number of years. Thank you for your swift and significant response to such a golden opportunity.

With the publication of the Honor Roll of Donors in the past several years, perhaps you've followed the results of the challenge to raise our donor participation rate, particularly among alumni. Our goal is to reach 30% – the national average – by June 30, 2005. Puma alumni crossed the fiscal-year-end finish line at 26%, strides ahead of last year's 24%. In the spirit of the summer Olympics, may one and all join together to "bring home the gold" and reach 30% this year. Spread the word about the joys of fiscal fitness!

Puma alumni crossed the fiscal-year-end finish line at 26%, strides ahead of last year's 24%.

I hope you will take some time to read the interview with President Mills that appears in this issue. We have been engaged in a strategic planning process in anticipation of a visit by our accrediting body, North Central, this November. While we lack the crystal ball to predict every element of the future, we are assessing the necessary resources for remaining a sound and competitive institution of higher education. With all of its charm and beauty, this 115-year-old campus is showing signs of an aging infrastructure, and just as in the corporate world, costs are escalating – from delivery of academic programs and intercollegiate athletics to wages and health insurance. Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote, "The greatest thing in this world is not so much where we are, but in what direction we are moving." As you ponder the remarks from the interview with President Mills, give heartfelt thought to the manner in which you can influence the destiny of Saint Joseph's College.

Want to see how you've made a difference? Take a detour off the interstate or highway next time you're near Rensselaer. A stroll through the recently renovated Lourdes Grotto will be breathtaking; venturing into the first floor of the Arts and Science Building to view the updated hallway and classrooms will be awe-inspiring; viewing the makeover of the Robinson Memorial Library will undoubtedly make you jealous from your days as a student. All the while, you can peer east of campus to view the phenomenal restoration progress on Drexel Hall. Guaranteed: your detour will be well worth the time invested and is sure to warm the heart.

On behalf of the staff of Institutional Advancement and Marketing and the campus community, thank you for a phenomenal year. Stop in for a visit – we'd love to show you around campus. Blessings to you and yours in the coming year,

Maureen V. Egan '90

"Why I Give":

ALUMNI TESTIMONIALS

Ken Benich '94

"Ten years out of school and I still play in weekend soccer tournaments with fellow Pumas once a year. To help others receive the chance to develop lasting friendships is worth every penny."

Jim Gambaiani '74

"SJC taught me the importance of having compassion and a strong sense of morality while also focusing on academics, athletics, and discipline. Somewhere out there is another Jim Gambiani who will benefit from an SJC education in the same way I did."

Marilyn Whaley '61

"I've seen a lot of positive growth from the College in the last few years. There is a renewed energy on campus and I like being a part of it."

Calling All Alumni!

You're already a part of our history – now become a part of our online community. SJC has launched a great new online community designed to suit the needs of our alumni. With just a click of the mouse, you'll be able to:

- Create and maintain your own personal page
- Upload photos to shared photo galleries
- Network with fellow alums
- Find out about and register for upcoming events
- Stay up-to-date with news
- View your class homepage
- Submit class notes
- Interact with blogs and discussion forums
- Shop in our online store

The sooner you join, the sooner you can receive approval and enjoy the benefits of staying connected to classmates and campus life at Saint Joseph's College. Best of all, the site is only open to registered members, eliminating the ability for solicitors and other outside parties to view your information. It's so easy and secure, you'll wonder how you ever lived without it.
